Oceanography-Calling all scientists! Come along on a magical adventure as we go under the ocean's waves. We all know that fish float, do you know how? How can squid as small as your fingertips survive in the ocean? What is the favorite food of the largest creature in the world? Join our scientific team as we answer these questions and investigate the many hidden treasures beneath the ocean waves. Look at, touch and feel creatures like invertebrates, crustaceans, and cephalopods. It's oceans of fun for all so don't miss out. This class incorporates active learning through hands-on activities. Our course does include group dissection projects..
